BACK-STAGE by bill doll

Paul Haakon, world famous as a dancer, is playing his first dramatic role on the Ivoryton stage this week. Mr. Haakon has appeared in many Broadway musical shows and was a featured member of Pavlova's company when the ballerina made her last tour . . . Wister Clark is just back from Hollywood where he has been working in pictures for the past two years. His home is in Hartford . . . Mitchell Kowal, who has his first role of the season in "Brother Rat," made a hit in "Jazz Age" here last year . . . Five talent scouts from the major motion picture studios were in the audience last week . . . John Raby will remain to play in next week's bill . . . and speaking of next week's bill, it will be another Stiefel triumph. Mr. Stiefel will present "Yes—My Darling Daughter" . . . a slightly naughty play, but oh so funny with popular Norma Mitchell in the stella role. You will remember Norma who helped write "Post Road," and played in it for so long.
